Mr. Seymour spoke in favor of the 27. amendment.

Mr. Pon objected to it. Mr. Gatling took the floor and said: The gentleman from Johnston (Mr. Pou) has alone stated the proposition with entire accuracy. He narrows it into the utter native of refusing relief to a class of debtors whose contracts bear date before 1865, and who form only a small proportion of the people of the State, or to close the Courts at once to every species of redress whatever the wrong may be. FRIDAY, March 12, 1869. The unfinished business of the morning being the motion to strike out section 22 in the bill in relation to Townships, was

Mr. Cook occupied the floor in reply at length, arguing against the payment of the claims. While he opposed the claims as appropriation to the war, he would not be understood as being opposed to making appropriations to benefit the people of the State, as it had been intimated he had already voted away millions.

Mr. Davis was on the Committee of Claims-he recommended the payment of the claims because they were just and proper-if he thought they had anything to do with the rebellion, he should be opposed so them. They were not so viewed by him, and should be paid. The evidence before time and passed. the Committee of one of the parties who loan d the money, was that he, the witness, rafinsed to loan the money if it was understood that it was for war purposes-

Mr. Graham admitted that all these claims were refused to be entertained by the General Assembly as stated. He was ment. in favor, however, of allowing them-they were not in aid of the rebellion, but for the sustenance of the civil government, and borrowed from a loyal citizen, who advanced the money understandingly. Mr. Love, on behalf of the Committee, stated that the matter had been before the Committee for four weeks, and had been thoroughly and calmly considered, and they were clearly of the opinion that the claims were just.

Mr. Brogden opposed the passage of the resolution in a protracted speech. In reply, Mr. Respass said Mr. B. had said everything except to say the Committee had been bribed in this matter. He hurled the charge back in his face, &c. Mr. Brogden quoted Shakspeare and other authors on Mr. Respass. Mr Davis said the storm was pretty much over, and he didn't think any one had been struck by the lightning. He defended the committee against what he deemed an acbribed by fine dinners, &c. The Senator reading by a vote of yeas 64, nays 2. from Wayne had no right to make these charges. Mr. Davis said the claims were thought to be honest by the committee.

Mr. Hayes called the previous question, which was sustained, and the resolution put upon its passage, and resulted yeas 16, mays 18.
